THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE TWO.

The New York Post, which dies very hard, takes a little comfort in showing its lack of sense in attacking President Harrison's cabinet. The Post never printed a line during the four years Cleveland was in office colored with complaint about the democratic cabinet being rich or representatives of corporations or monopolies. Then, the richer the cabinet was the better it was for the democratic administration. There are only three rich men in the republican cabinet—Blaine, Proctor, and Wanamaker, and the latter, whose appointment gives so much trouble to the mugwumps, is one of the most noted philanthropists in the country. The Harrison cabinet is singularly free from the objections that rested against the democratic cabinet.

But not only does the New York Post whine because of these three rich men being given place and responsibility and power, but the democratic press "is all broke up" because the Jeffersonian simplicity has departed from the government mith the retirement of Cleveland and his cabinet. Let us see about this.

It is well enough to compare notes and learn the difference between the tw cabinets. In preaching, the democratic newspapers, like the Post, abhor a rich man in a public position. In practice, however, there is a flagrant example of democratic hypocrisy. Take the late democratic secretary of state, and his wealth is placed at not less than $300,000. Daniel Manning, the first democratic secretary of the treasury, was worth more than half a million; and his successor, Mr. Fairchild, can just touch the millionaire line. The palace of Mr. Whitney, secretary of the navy, cost $750,000, and he spends $50,000 for living expenses. Mr. Endicott secretary of war, is also a very rich man, and his daily living is surrounded by all the sumptuousness that wealth can buy. The innocent Mr. Vilas, is also rich, and owns mining stock enough to place him near a millionaire. Don Dickinson postmaster general, who runs the democratic politics of Michigan, is also very rich, and his connection with telephone and other corporations, is increasing his riches very rapidly. There is no use to mention Garland, the attorney general, who was so notoriously connected with the Pan-electric company.

The New York Graphic, in making answer to a democratic howl about the republican cabinet, prints this paragraph:

In the same line of attack is the cry that General Harrison will give the country a "corporation" administration, as it could be more distinctly a corporation administration than the present one. It was Grover Cleveland who signed the bill at Albany under which the Broadway surface took place, and Secretary Whitney, of Standard Oil origin, was a participant in that plundering project. Secretary Bayard, while a member of the Land Claims committee of the senate accepted a fee of $5,000 for giving a favorable opinion of the title to the Maxwell land grant in New Mexico, on the validity of which he was afterward to pass as a member of that committee and a senator. Don Dickinson is a corporation lawyer—nothing more, nothing less. Daniel Manning was up to his eyes in telephone enterprises, and Secretary Fairchild has been all his life in banking or railroads. Vilas is another corporation lawyer and gained his wealth by his ability in framing laws for corporations in Wisconsin and for defending such organizations in the courts. He and Dickinson have been salaried railroad attorneys for years, and may be claiming their salaries yet, for all the public knows. Endicott was the legal adviser of an insurance company. Garland was—but everybody knows the pan-electric tag that is fastened to his coat-tail. Lamar alone was not openly fastened to any corporate interest, but has already cast his vote to favor large corporations.

The intelligence of the country will not be slow in determining which administration is the cleanest so far as freedom from corporation influence is concerned.

THE TAYLOR BILL.

The Taylor railway bill which has caused so much discussion, has met with a tragic end in the senate. When the question came up in the senate committee on a report of its indefinite postponement, the vote stood 7 to 2, Senators Taylor and Fitch being the only friends the bill had on the committee. A dispatch from Madison to the Sentinel gives these particulars in regard to the consideration of the bill before the committee:

Senator Taylor did not seek to get a favorable report, being evidently well posted on the sentiment of the committee, but he wanted to have the bill reported back without any recommendation. He offered such a motion, and the motion was carried by a vote of 5 to 4, Senators Rust and Pettibone voting with him out of personal friendship. The four members voting against the measure stated, however, that they would insist on making a minority report, at least, and thereupon those who, voting with Mr. Taylor on grounds of friendship, declared that if any report was made they would sign it, as they were opposed to the bill, and wished to have it so appear. The final vote on indefinite postponement being taken, the vote stood 7 to 2.

This mortal blow at the bill was not unexpected. There is no sentiment among the people to support any radical railway legislation. Fairness would seem to suggest that under all the circumstances, railways are doing very well. There may be some discrimination in regard to rates between points in the state, but there would seem to be a wiser way to remedy the evil, if an evil exists, than by such legislation as the Taylor bill proposed.

The New York World having made the criticism that Secretary of War Proctor, had spent all his life in trade, a democrat kindly informs his own party paper that Governor Proctor entered the army at the outbreak of the war as a first lieutenant and quartermaster in the Third Regiment, Vermont Volunteers, commanded by Colonel W. F. (Baldy) Smith afterwards famous as a division and corps commander. In the autumn of 1861 he was promoted to lieutenant colonel of the Sixth Vermont. Afterwards he was colonel of the Fifteenth Vermont, which formed a part of Standard's famous brigade that "rolled up Pickett's flank" at Gettysburg. When the Vermont frontier was menaced by rebel raiders from Canada Colonel Proctor was called home and placed in command of a strong force on the border. His vigilance was unceasing and his order to his detachment commanders to "follow and kill and never mind the line" had a most chilling effect on the rebels and their sympathizers across in Canada. So it would seem that this is a better war record than any member of the Cleveland cabinet could show.

One of the most striking cartoons that has appeared in Judge during so far in the present year, is the one in the current number, entitled, "The evacuation of Washington by the English." There is a long procession of democrats leaving the white house, the crowd being made up of Grover at the head riding a jack-ass, and following him on foot are a lot of sorry and maimed democrats, including Bruce, Mills, Curtis, Bayard, Vilas, and many others. Accompanying the cartoon are some beautiful and tender verses, the first of which is—

Yankee Doodle came to town
Astride his thorough-bred,
He met the old gang going out
With Grover at the head.

Mounted on the "thorough-bred" is Uncle Sam, with flag in hand, with four feathers in his hat, on which appears the names of the four new states—North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington. To the democrats the picture will revive the sad memories of the campaign, when too much free trade killed the party.

There is a report set afloat that Colonel Henry Casson, for some time Governor Rusk's private secretary, and now private secretary to Governor Hoard, will be tendered one of the best positions in the department of agriculture by Secretary Rusk—probably the assistant secretaryship. If there is anything that pays well in the shape of an office in the department of agriculture, or any other department, Colonel Casson should have it if he wants it. He has five qualifications for the position—(1) ability; (2) uncommon sense; (3) integrity; (4) industry; and (5) a good fellow on general principles. The colonel's friends will be glad to learn of any promotion that may be tendered him.

The house of representatives of the Minnesota legislature has refused by a vote of 59 to 39 to submit the prohibition amendment to the people. The 59 members of the legislature who voted against submission, made a mistake. The right of submission should never be denied. The question as to whether the proposed amendment would be adopted by the people, is a matter with which the legislature has nothing whatever to do. It was the business of the legislature to leave that question to the people.

Dr. Mary Walker, who dresses in men's attire, is seeking a place under the present administration. She pants for a public office. She has been panting therefor a long time, and the more the pants the more ridiculous she becomes. President Harrison would do well to deal with Dr. Mary's panting as General Grant once did when she made application for an office.

A dispatch from Lancaster dated the 7th says: "Nelson Dewey, a democratic leader and pioneer, and first governor of the state, is at the point of death from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. His case seemed almost hopeless on Monday and Tuesday, but he was somewhat brighter this afternoon. One of his sides is completely paralyzed, and he is very weak."

It was a serious question in Philadelphia what John Wanamaker would do with his great Sunday school class when he got in the cabinet. The matter is settled. Mr. Wanamaker will go from Washington to Philadelphia every Saturday to meet his bible class, which is the largest in the world.

Once more we request all competent democrats who are holding federal offices to stand firm at their posts. The incompetents may resign if they wish to.—Buffalo Times

The incompetents won't resign. But if they did there would be a great army of democrats go out of office at once.

There is some surprise among Mr. Blaine's enemies. He has been in office four full days, and he has not yet declared war with any foreign power.

Limited Powers.

A mother was correcting her little boy the other day, and appealing to him, asked how he would feel if he had a son who didn't do this and didn't do that and so on. When she had reached the end of the inquiry he answered: "Well, mamma, if I had a little boy eight years old I don't think I'd expect the earth of him."

In an Opera Box.

Young Wife (to her husband, who wishes her to excuse him a few moments)—No objection to your going out to "see a man," as you call it, Charles, but if you are going to be gone as long as you were last time please send some good looking man to see me.

Charles concludes not to go.

In Full Measure.

"My dear," said Mr. Marrowfat to the partner of his joys, "have we any cider left?"

"Yes, John," replied Mr. Marrowfat; "we have an empty demijohn full."

THE WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE

Our City Charter Amendments Passed by the Assembly this Morning.

Other Matters Considered in the Senate and the Assembly.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, March 8—The assembly this morning passed the following bills:

To create the town of Harrison in Lincoln county.

Two bills to amend the Janesville city charter.

In relation to registration of birth marriages and deaths.

In relation to licenses.

Providing for docketing judgments of United States courts.

To amend Revised Statutes in relation to insurance.

Changing law in relation to state public schools.

To amend fire escape law.

A bill was introduced allowing the United States to buy a site for a post-office in Milwaukee, and one to abolish the office of game warden.

The senate concurred in a bill allowing the State Board of Charities more scope in caring for insane.

To appropriate $1,500 for expenses on convict lat or committee.

Bill introduced providing penalties for wearing loyal legion button without being a member of order.

Rev. Wm. H. Chapman, pastor of the M. E. church, Georgetown, D. C., wrote us: Having had an opportunity to test the excellent qualities of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, I hesitate not to say, it is the best remedy I have ever used in my family. For croup and whooping cough it is a sure cure.

OUTLAWS MORTALLY HURT.

Railroad Contractors Win a Big Fight Near Cumberland Gap.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 8. — Advices from Tennessee say that a party of mountain desperadoes, headed by the notorious Clabe Watson, Lee Watson, Bill Turner, and Judson Bell, attacked the camps of Hay & Rivenac, railroad contractors, near Cumberland gap.

The ruffians were drunk and were armed with Winchesters and large Colt's revolvers. They first overran the commissary department and ate or destroyed all the provisions. They then went to the shanties and cabins occupied by the negro laborers and beat several of them nearly to death. By this time Hay and Rivenac had gathered a number of their men together and opened fire on the desperadoes. A pitched battle took place, in which Judson Bell and Lee Watson were mortally wounded and the remainder of the gang driven away. The next day the railroaders, with Officers Ingraham and Cavin, raided Yellow Creek and captured the desperate outlaw Andy Watson, who has terrorized Bell county for years. He was taken to Pineville jail. There are several indictments for murder against him. The railroad men have thoroughly armed themselves, and say that if the Kentucky authorities will back them up they will rid the Yellow Creek region of all the outlaws that overrun it.

Reading Iron Works Creditors Meet.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 8.—The creditors of the suspended Reading Iron works met here to-day and appointed a committee of five to investigate the affairs of the company and report at a subsequent meeting. It was decided not to allow any preferences. An attempt will be made to reorganize and continue the works. The total liabilities are about $5,000,000.

Mrs. Driscoll's Trial for Murder.

WAUKESHA, Wis., March 8.—The examination of Mrs. Driscoll, who murdered her husband at her home near Delafield, and attempted to take the life of her son also will be held before Justice Hemlock to-morrow. Mrs. Driscoll had a spasm last evening. She seems frantic with grief, realizing as she does the terrible crime she has committed.

The "Electric" Swindlers.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Olive E. Friend, Mrs. Emily Howard, William E. Howard, Gus Halsted and George Halsted, all interested parties in the great electric sugar refining frauds, arrived here this morning from Detroit. The party was under the escort of detective sergeants, and all are now safely locked up in police headquarters.

Harrison's Cabinet Suits the Pope.

LONDON, March 8.—A dispatch from Rome says that President Harrison's Cabinet fully satisfies the Vatican, and that information has reached the Propaganda that under Harrison's administration the relations between the United States and the Holy See will be of a most cordial character.

Bloomington, Ill.—Luella Kimball, who last Sunday threw carbolic acin on a group of worshipers in a church, has been taken to the Jacksonville asylum.

A Remnant of Greatness.

"Joshua," said a farmer who lived a few miles from a Western town, in conversation with his son, "where do you think we had better plant our potatoes next spring?"

"I don't know, father, I hadn't thought of it. How would the land down by the creek do?"

"Down by the creek!" repeated the old man scornfully. "We'll plant them at the corner of One Hundred and Eightieth and Gay streets, lot 6, block 317, Jenkins' addition to the city of Swamp Hollow."

She Had Been Untrue.

"Boss," inquired a darkey recently of a lawyer in the city court-room, "kin I git a divorce here?"

"I don't know," replied the lawyer. "Has your wife been untrue to you?"

"Deed she is, boss."

"Well what did she do?"

"Well, sah, me an' her married in February, an' in less 'n a month I was jes bleedged ter quit her."

"What was the matter?"

"She jes wouldn' s'port me, dat's w'ats de matter. I want a divorce."

MILLIONS FOR HER NAVY.

ENGLAND PROPOSES TO SPEND £21,500,000 IN WAR SHIPS.

Gladstone to Oppose the Measure—Order Prevailing in Servia—The New Italian Cabinet.

LONDON, March 8.—In the House of Commons last night Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty, said the government proposed to build 8 first-class men-of-war of 14,000 tons each and 2 of 9,000 tons, 9 first-class cruisers, 29 smaller cruisers, 4 of the Pandora type of cruisers and 18 of the sharpshooter type of torpedo vessels. The total tonnage of all these vessels will be 318,000 and the total cost £21,500,000. He asked that £10,000,000 be appropriated from the consolidated fund for the proposed increase of the navy, and that the remainder of the sum required be provided for in the ordinary estimates. He promised that the admiralty's program would be executed within four and a half years.

Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, said that the total vote to be asked for 1889 was £4,650,000, including £2,600,000 for new construction. It was not proposed to raise the £10,000,000 asked, which might be called a naval defense fund, by means of a loan. The government's scheme was to equalize the payments over seven years, imposing £1,430,000 additional taxation yearly.

Lord Randolph Churchill and Lord Charles Beresford criticised the government's proposals, and the latter gave notice of an amendment declaring that England's naval strength ought to be equal to the navies of France and any other great power combined.

The Radicals will oppose every stage of the legislation connected with Lord George Hamilton's scheme. It is expected that Mr. Gladstone will lead the opposition attack on the government.

ORDER PREVAILS IN SERVIA.

Ex-King Milan Will Pay a Visit to the Emperor of Austria.

BELGRADE, March 8.—The excitement over the abdication of Milan is subsiding, but the rejoicing continues unabated. Perfect order prevails here and throughout the kingdom.

Apprehension is felt over political results, but general satisfaction is expressed over the return of the Queen, whose relations with her son will not be interfered with.

It is difficult to say yet whether Russia or Austria has gained by the change. The regency is Russophile, and so is the majority in the skuptschina; but Milan has taken care in his act of abdication to protect the interests of Austria and Germany. The ex-King will start in a few days on a lengthened foreign tour. It is noted as significant that his first visit will be to the Emperor of Austria.

Italy's New Ministry.

ROME, March 8.—King Humbert has accepted the cabinet as arranged by Sig. Crispi, as follows:

President of the Council, Minister of the Interior, and Minister of Foreign Affairs—Sig. Crispi.
Minister of Finance—Sig. Dota.
Minister of the Treasury—Sig. Ziqletti.
Minister of Justice and Ecclesiastical Affairs—Sig. Zanardelli.
Minister of War—Gen. Vaile.
Minister of Marine—Sig. Brin.
Minister of Commerce, Industry, and Agriculture—Sig. Micoli.
Minister of Public Works — Senator Finali.
Minister of Posts and Telegraphs—Sig. Lacava.

Of the new ministry Sig. Crispi, Vaile, Brin, Micoli, and Zanardelli retain the portfolio held by them in the last cabinet. It is believed that the cabinet will command a considerable majority in the Chamber of Deputies, although it will be confronted by the old right and the extreme left.

The Panama Canal.

PARIS, March 7.—In the Chamber of Deputies M. Villain submitted his interpellation of the government regarding the Panama canal company. He urged that the canal scheme should not be abandoned and that a meeting of shareholders of the company should be convened for the purpose of discussing means for the continuation of work on the canal. If the savings of France were insufficient to build the canal assistance should be invoked from other countries. He moved an order of the day appealing to the government to safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

M. Rouvier, minister of finance, and Premier Tired said the Government had no means of interfering, although, it approved of every effort made by capitalists and companies to prevent the collapse of the undertaking.

The chamber then by a vote of 344 to 185 adopted a Government order of the day in regard to the canal.

Servia's New Cabinet.

BELGRADE, March 8.—The new cabinet is as follows: M. Gruics, premier and minister of foreign affairs; M. Velime Irvics, minister of public works; Dr. Vuics, minister of finance; M. Gersics, minister of justice: M. Milosauoljevics, minister of education; M. Popovics, minister of commerce and agriculture; M. Taushanovics, minister of the Interior; M. Djuvics, minister of war.

Alexander sent a telegram to his mother announcing his accession, addressing her as Queen Nathalie. He received a long telegram in reply.

Nearing the End.

LONDON, March 8.—In the special commission to-day Sir Richard Webster, announced, to the relief of everybody, that the Times would be able, he thought, to close its case Tuesday. Nothing of interest has been developed since it was resumed, and the proceedings are becoming a tedious farce. The Parnellites promise to make things lively when they get their inning.

Their Acquittal Will Follow.

PARIS, March 8.—The prosecution against MM. de Rotilede, Laguerre, and Richard is for having organized illegal societies, not for having exposed the country to the danger of war. The charges will accordingly have to be tried before a jury, in which case there is little doubt that the accused will be acquitted.

Nothing the Matter with Pigott's Brain.

MADRID, March 8.—The physician who made the post-mortem examination of the body of Pigott declares that he never saw such a well formed skull and brain, the latter indicating a man of superior force of character and imagination.

A Wisconsin Capitalist Killed.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., March 8.—John F. Stone, retired capitalist, was killed by a train Thursday while walking on the track. He was deaf and did not hear the train's approach.

Avoid appearances.—A worthy gentleman, having an unusually red nose, was long suspected of being a tippler on the sly, by those not acquainted with his strictly temperate habits. His unfortunate disfigurement was readily cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

AMENDING STATE LAWS.

WORK OF WESTERN LEGISLATURES.

To Cheapen Illinois Telephones—Investigating the Michigan Insane—Wisconsin's Judges—Indiana's Solons.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 8.—Senator Hogan's bill amending the law in relation to the propagation and cultivation of fish was taken up as a special order in the Senate. After some discussion the bill was recommitted.

Senator Eckhart's bill to regulate the rental and fix the charges allowed for the use of telephones was passed by 37 yeas to no nays.

The Senate concurred in the House joint resolution providing for the appointment of a joint revenue committee of eight Senators and eleven Representatives.

The following bills were passed without debate: Mr. Thomas' bill enabling cemetery associations to receive funds to keep cemetery lots in permanent repair; Mr. Thomas' bill requiring collectors' books to show opposite each piece, lot, or tract of land any sales made of the same for taxes or special assessments for the two preceding years; Mr. Secrest's bill enabling counties to purchase and condemn dams and cause their removal to facilitate drainage; Mr. Gibbs' bill appropriating $11,000 for carpeting and furnishing the Appellate court-rooms in the First district; Mr. Higbee's bill requiring decrees and judgments of the United States courts to be recorded in counties where they affect property.

Senator Karraker's bill amending the bastardy law so as to provide that no release given to the putative father of an illegitimate child by the mother of such child shall be legal and binding unless the release is given with the consent of the county judge of the county in which the mother resides was passed by a vote of 27 to 13.

A resolution offered by Mr. Rickert expressing the sorrow of the Senate for the death of ex-Senator Louis Thorn of the Forty-eighth district was adopted.

The Illinois House.

In the House a bill codifying the school laws was slightly amended and ordered engrossed for third reading.

The bill providing for the election of railroad and warehouse commissioners was ordered engrossed for third reading.

The committee on license reported to the House the Allen county option bill, and by unanimous consent it was read a first time.

Mr. Ross, from the committee on labor and industrial affairs, reported with amendment the bill repealing the obnoxious features of the Merritt conspiracy law. Referred to the committee on judicial department for further consideration and revision.

The House adjourned until 5 p. m. in order to give an opportunity for the introduction of bills.

When the House reconvened at 5 p. m. the roll was called for the introduction of bills. Among the prominent measures offered were: By Mr. Hunter of Knox, providing for the incorporation of State cyclone and tornado insurance companies; by Mr. Kent, prohibiting child labor, also a bill putting all warehouses under State inspection; by Mr. Sundelius, providing for compulsory education for young children; by Mr. Baker, amending the pharmacy law; the same bill that was indorsed by the Pharmaceutical association.

Mr. Partridge made a report from the committee on fish and game, submitting a substitute bill for several game bills referred to that committee. Mr. Partridge also reported a bill with amendment providing that no distillery, glucose factory, or gas works shall empty its refuse into any water or stream.

The committee on State institutions reported favorably on the bill appropriating $400,000 each for the construction of two new insane asylums—a northwestern and a southwestern.

MICHIGAN LUNATICS.

The Legislature Will Investigate Their Treatment at Pontiac.

LANSING, Mich., March 8.—Within the last month two patients have died at the Pontiac asylum for the insane as the result of brutal treatment on the part of helpers. In both cases on post-mortem examination nearly all the ribs on one side of the men were found to be crushed in. Caustic criticism by the press on the affair has at length induced Supt. Hurd and President Minton of the board of trustees to demand a careful investigation by the Legislature. A concurrent resolution was therefore introduced in the House calling for the appointment of a special investigation committee. It passed the House under a suspension of the rules and will be agreed to by the Senate. The committee will consist of three Senators and three Representatives, the Governor to add one member of the Board of Corrections and Charities, and it will be empowered to send for persons and evidence in investigating the alleged abuses.

The House passed bills to authorize the incorporation of pipe-line companies for the transportation of petroleum and natural gas; to enable gaslight companies to increase their capital stock $100,000 for each 50,000 increase in population, and to provide a penalty for fraudulent removal or concealment of goods covered by chattel mortgage or purchased under contract. The last measure is of great importance, as a decision of the Supreme court declared unconstitutional the existing law, and there is at present no way of meting out punishment to this class of offenders.

Gov. Luce has signed the joint resolutions for a vote this spring upon the constitutional amendments relative to the life of incorporations and an increase to the Governor's salary to $4,000. Last evening Representatives hall was turned over to a large number of Detroit ladies, who addressed the Legislature on the bill granting municipal suffrage to women.

WISCONSIN'S JUDGES.

A Bill to Increase Their Salaries—Taylor's Railroad Bill Killed.

MADISON, Wis., March 8.—In the Senate a bill was passed making the salaries of Circuit judges $4,000 per annum, and providing for the payment of their expenses while away from home on the discharge of their duty. Another bill was passed requiring Circuit and county judges to render a decision in cases heard by them within six months after such hearing, and in case of default they are required to appear before the Governor to explain. The House bill to forbid the teaching of German in public schools was laid on the table.

In the Assembly a bill was passed for the purchase of a rifle camp, and for the improvement of Camp Douglas the sum of $5,600 was appropriated. The committee on State affairs held a meeting Thursday afternoon and heard arguments pro and con regarding the county option bill. It will probably not pass.

The following bills were passed under suspension of the rules: To establish a free library in Green Bay; to change the law in relation to election precincts so as to take in additions to Milwaukee; to create the town of Hoard, Clark county; regulating the proceedings in condemnation of property for public use; to exclude minors from trials of a scandalous or obscene nature; requiring specific reasons for asking for a new trial.

The Senate railroad committee, by a nearly unanimous vote, decided to indefinitely postpone what is known as the Taylor railroad bill. This provided for a commission of three, with power to establish rates and applied features of the interstate commerce law to State traffic, including the long and short haul clause. The bill was actively opposed by the railroads and may now be considered dead.

INDIANA SOLONS.

A Political Debate Over the Deficiency Appropriation Bill.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 8.—The session of the Senate was occupied almost wholly in considering the deficiency appropriation bill. A section was added naming the newly-elected trustees of the different money must be paid by the Auditor and Treasurer, and afterward the section was amended by adding, "or upon their death or resignation to their successors." Senator John directed attention to the effect upon public interests if the Supreme court should sustain the Governor in his view that the Legislature has not the constitutional right to create and fill offices. During the discusssion on this feature of the bill, Senators Barrett, Democrat, and Johnson, Republican, had a cross-fire of questions and answers as to what the Supreme court would do. "If the Supreme court overrides the rights of the Legislature, then I want to show them that they can not do it," said Barrett.

"What is that but revolution?" asked Johnson.

"It is not revolution, but it would be revolution for the Supreme Court to override the rights of the people," replied Barrett.

"You believe the legislative branch is paramount to the judicial in determining what is constitutional?" said Johnson.

"If the Supreme Court is so controlled by partisan spirit that it overrides the rights of the Legislature, it ought not to be respected or obeyed. But I have said repeatedly I can't conceive the possibility of such a thing," Barrett replied.

Other sections of the bill were the subject of political discussion, particularly the one which compells the State Auditor to disclose the amount he has paid Lieutenant Governor Robertson, and the allowance of $5,000 for court expenses in prosecuting the suit against the State of Kentucky for possession of Green River Island, was defeated.

Mr. Foley proposed as an amendment an allowance of $4,000 to W. H. Draper for services as stenographer of the Legislature in 1885, and after some opposition it was adopted, after which the bill was passed.

In the afternoon the Governor vetoed the Bigham police bill and the Curtis board of control bill, both applying to Indianopolis. They will be passed over his head.

Goff Makes a Move.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 8.—The initial step was taken in the Supreme court this morning by Gen. Goff's attorneys suing out a writ of mandamus against Gov. Wilson to compel him to surrender the office of Governor to Gen. Goff. The case is to come up to-morrow for argument. All parties to the suit have agreed that matters in controversy may be determined without further process. Gen. Goff's attorneys have also sued out a writ of quo warranto in the Circuit court against Gov. Wilson, but this is only a formal matter.

Expulsion of a Colorado Legislator.

DENVER, Col., March 8.—The House of Representatives of the Seventh General Assembly of Colorado has expelled Thomas E. Mitchell, one of the representatives of Arapahoe county, for having entered into a corrupt bargain to vote for a candidate for United States Senator at the late Senatorial election in this State.

No Prohibition for Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 8.—By a vote of 58 to 39 the House of Representatives refused to submit to the people an amendment to prohibit the liquor traffic.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.

Elected an Honorary Member of the New York Chamber of Commerce.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland drove down town in a carriage from the Victoria hotel to his law office in William street. He was accompanied by Messrs. Stetson and MacVeagh. Nobody was on hand to witness Mr. Cleveland's arrival.

The chamber of commerce elected John D. Rockefeller a member. Ex-President Grover Cleveland was nominated for honorary membership of the chamber. Alexander E. Orr made the speech of nomination and highly eulogized the nominee. Col. Fred A. Conkling opposed the nomination. A rising vote was taken; 20 voted in favor of it, 13 against it, and a few did not vote at all. Mr. Cleveland was thereupon elected an honorary member.

The votes against Mr. Cleveland were caused by the eulogistic references of Mr. Orr to his tariff record. This put the protectionists on their mettle. Otherwise there would have been no opposition to the nomination.

Brained by a Thief.

NEW YORK, March 8.—To-day while Gunther Wetz, a clerk for Otto Doepfner, druggist, was engaged in the rear of the store he was startled at the appearance of a man, who, without any warning, struck him on the head with an ax. Wetz fell back on the sofa where he sat, but sprang up, and made a brave fight for his life. His assailant continued to rain blows upon him and succeeded in fracturing his skull and smashing the fingers of his right hand. When Wetz was unable to move the murderous thief robbed the till of $11 and escaped. Wetz will die.

Flames Lick Up a Building.

PATERSON, N. J., March 8.—The Young Men's Christian Association building, a large, three-story structure, was destroyed by fire Thursday morning. The blaze was extremely stubborn, flames breaking out a second time after they were supposed to be extinguished. Loss, $25,000. A number of stores in the building and adjacent were either burned out or badly damaged, the owners losing from $1,000 to $3,000 each.

No Lives Were Lost.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 8.—LATER—The rumors of loss of life in the Metropolitan street-car barn fire are erroneous, as all the employes got out safely. Officer Flanagan was overcome by smoke while trying to cut loose some mules but was dragged out and resuscitated.

A Whole Family Murdered.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 8.—A report just in from Duck creek says Mitchell Peebles, his wife, and two children, have been found murdered. They were killed by thieves, who were after the money Peebles kept in his house.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her; she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another, and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For further particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottles of this Wonderful Discovery free at F. Sberer & Co's.

Doubt Brightening Into Hope.

And hope into certainty, is the pleasing transition through which the mind of the nervous, dyspeptic invalid passes who tries a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is alike incomparable and inimitable. Increased vitality, a gain in weight, tranquility of the nerves, sound appetite and sleep are among the blessings which it is within the beneficent power of this medicine to confer, and it is not surprising that after acquiring this new dowry of health the grateful sick should sometimes utter their praises of the Bitters in terms bordering on extravagance. "Out of the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh," and the proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have sometimes been obliged to suppress these eulogiums least they should be accused of blowing their own trumpet too loudly. For constipation, biliousness, kidney complaint and incipient rheumatism the Bitters is also a deservedly popular remedy.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

GOSSIP ABOUT THINGS IN THE METROPOLIS.

The Woman's Annex to Columbia College—President Barnard's Useful Career—In a Famous Library.

[Special New York Correspondence.]

When Sorosis, in December, 1876, presented a memorial to the trustees of Columbia college regarding the higher education of women, that venerable institution became involved in difficulties which have grown with the passing of years and the enlargement of ideas. The first decisive step toward admitting women to the advantages of the college was taken in June, 1883, when the trustees ordered that a course of collegiate study, equivalent to that given to young men, should be offered to women. The ladies, not being admitted to classes, were at liberty to study wherever they pleased, taking examinations at the colleges twice a year. The next advance was the establishment of a post-graduate department for women. Then came the crowning effort — the founding of a female Annex. The idea originated with Mrs. Annie Nathan Meyer, a former student of Columbia. She interested many prominent people in the scheme, and almost before any one knew of a proposed college for women in the metropolis, its trustees had been selected and plans made for the speedy opening of the department. The Annex is to correspond to the "School of Arts," and its students will have the same staff of instructors. As soon as the money is raised the women will erect a building, but they will not wait for its completion before opening their college. There are twenty-four women now studying at Columbia, and many applications have been made for admission. The trustees, therefore, will endeavor to commence regular work in the new department next fall.

The proposition to name the annex "Barnard College," after the aged president of Columbia, is a happy thought. The cause of higher education for women has had no better friend in this country than Dr. Barnard. His interest in the Annex dates back to its very beginning, and to his influence it is indebted for its success, if not for its very existence. The honor is a fitting one, too, to one who has filled so important positions as an educator, and the fact that he is about to give up his life work, is an added reason why it should be bestowed. Dr. Barnard is now past 80, and he has been an instructor for over sixty years. After his graduation from Yale, in 1828, he became a tutor in that university. From there he came to this city as a teacher of the deaf and dumb. He next occupied the chair of mathematics and natural philosophy and later that of Chemistry at the University of Alabama. We next hear of him as professor of mathematics and astronomy at the University of Mississippi, and later as its president. But his final and best work was done at Columbia college, where he has acted as president for nearly twenty-five years. Under his government that time-honored institution has become one of the leading universities of the country, and his resignation last spring, because of advancing years and unstable health was universally regretted. The trustees feel that it will be difficult to chose a worthy successor, and they are making no haste to decide the matter. It is rumored that no one will be selected till Dr. Barnard has finished his twenty-fifth year, and it has been his greatest desire to serve Columbia college a quarter of a century.

The future of Columbia college is a question that is being very widely discussed, and one that is full of interest to all who are connected with educational matters. President Barnard's great desire is that it should become a post-graduate university, after the plan of the German schools. A most excellent idea, and one that commends itself. There are so many Eastern colleges, furnishing good undergraduate courses, that Columbia could well be spared. On the other hand, there is great need of post-graduate colleges in our country. Johns Hopkins has thus far had the field practically to itself. The proposed Clark University will supply the want in New England, but it will be filled by the students of that locality. The Middle States need another such university, and New York city, with its central position and its concourse of scholars, is just the place for it. Concerning this very question, ex-President Andrew D. White, of Cornell University, writes in the January Forum of Columbia college, it is "old, honored, with perhaps the largest endowment of the kind in the United States, with the best facilities for drawing into its faculty leading men in every department, and with boundless opportunities for raising the tone of the great city in which it stands, and so of the country at large." Whether or not Columbia has thus far neglected her opportunity, as he goes on to say she has, it is certain that she is tending toward the change he advocates, and her warmest friends hope the time will not be far distant when she will become a post-graduate university.

The need of a post-graduate university in New York city recalls the letter of an English author, recently published in the London Times, in which he predicts that international copyright would make New York the literary center of the English speaking world. This idea, no doubt, causes some amusement in Boston and other parts of the country where the metropolis is regarded as a commercial giant and nothing more, but the facts on which he bases his argument are worthy of consideration. The English, with their numerous circulating libraries, are a nation of book borrowers, whereas the Americans are book buyers. With an American population numbering twenty-five million more than that of Great Britain, this consideration is an important one to the English publishers and will result in their placing their principal establishments in New York, and their branch houses in London. American journals, he thinks, will be more popular than those in England, and books will be written to suit the American rather than the English taste. Whether all this will be brought about by international copyright or not, the thoughtful mind must admit that the metropolis has literary opportunities possessed by no other city in the land, and authors and scholars availing themselves of its advantages will more and more concentrate the literary element of our civilization in and about the great metropolis.

There are few places in New York city more interest to visitors than Lenox college. The building is massive and imposing—one of the landmarks of Fifth avenue. Its books, pictures, sculptures and ceramics are almost without exception the gift of of James Lenox. Among the pictures are two of Turner's, several of Reynolds, one of Andrea del Sarto's and Munkacsy's beautiful "Blind Milton dictating Paradise Lost to his daughter."

The thirty-thousand volumes in the library form a compact history of bookmaking. Here are beautifully ornamented missals, executed with a pen on vellum, each one, perhaps, the work of a lifetime; block books, illustrative of the period before movable type was invented; first editions, each number of them a delight to the lover of rare books; second editions, tenth editions, last editions,—the completeness is bewildering. The Bibles alone would keep a visitor exclaiming for an hour. Here are the "Mazarin Bible," the first complete printed book ever known, thirty thousand dollars was once offered for it and not accepted; the "Wicked Bible," an edition of the twelfth century, wherein one reads the startling commandment: "Du solt ehebrechen"; a Bible of Melancthon's, closely interlined with notes in his own handwriting; two copies of the "Biblia Pauperum," five of Eliot's Indian Bibles, one of—but the list is too long. The collection is well worth riding several miles in a Fifth avenue stage to see. And to those who have had experience in these aristocratic but noisy vehicles, stronger praise will not be needed. LITTLE WORK YET DONE BY THE NEW OFFICIALS.

Why the Pacific Slope Was Not Recognized—Ingalls in His Old Place—Gossip.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Secretaries Blaine, Proctor, and Tracy came to their respective offices early Thursday morning, but if they had any idea of attending to official business they must have abandoned it when they saw the number of people awaiting them.

Senators, Representatives, and high officials came in twos and threes. Some brought friends, and many ladies were among the callers. Russell Harrison, with a party of Montana people, made the rounds of the departments. Gen. Sherman and Admiral Porter were among the notables who attended the impromptu receptions.

No official changes have yet been recorded in the subordinate offices, but Walker Blaine occupies the seat vacated by First Assistant Secretary Rives in the Department of State, and Thomas Sherman, who formerly served as Mr. Blaine's private secretary, was endeavoring to protect the Secretary of State from the inroads of the public. Both have voluntarily taken hold to help smooth the way for the new administration, but in neither case has an appointment been made. In the War Department William C. Endicott, Jr., continues to fill the post of private secretary. His father, the late Secretary of War, called upon his successor this morning, presumably to supply him with information respecting current business. Senators Paddock and Hawley and Representative Dorsey of Nebraska were among Secretary Proctor's callers. They subsequently visited Secretaries Blaine and Tracy. No appointment has yet been made to fill the private secretaryship in the Navy Department, which was vacated by Mr. Fletcher, and the assistant is discharging the routine duties of the office. Ex-Senator Chandler called about midday upon Secretary Tracy and had a long chat with him. In all of the executive departments located in the state, war and navy buildings, the changes likely to result from the change of administration are few in number, because a long line of precedents favor the continuation of the bureau chiefs in the State Department, while in the others the superior posts are mostly filled by detailed army or navy officers.

HARRISON'S NEW BROOM.

It Is Very Finely Plated and Has Pretty Pictures on It.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The President is still overrun with callers and the bulk of his time is taken up thereby.

Among the visitors of to-day were the members of the interstate commerce commission and the delegates to the conference of State railroad commissioners, the railroad accounting officers and others now in session here. Next was a delegation from Arizona, urging the appointment of a Governor of that Territory before the Legislature expires, March 23. Among the candidates are ex-Gov. Axtell, Col. Wolfley and Gen. Crist, all of that Territory. Several Senators also called to urge candidates from their respective States for some position.

Congressman Funston of Kansas called and presented Mrs. Harrison a unique broom, made at Humboldt, Kan. The broom itself and handle are made of fine broom straw. Along the handle are engraved plates of silver, one of which represents President Harrison sweeping the Democrats down the steps of a department building. The engraving is very fine, and embodies so much detail that it requires a magnifying glass to bring out all the points.

Eight Hours for Letter-Carriers.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Messrs. F. P. Braceland, of Philadelphia, John J. Bealin of New York city, and James F. Conaty of Jersey City, representing the letter-carriers' associations of those cities, have come to Washington to present testimonials to those members of Congress who assisted in the passage of the bill extending the eight-hour law to letter-carriers. These testimonials are in the shape of a magnificent book, handsomely bound, printed on satin leaves and containing fifty-two illustrations, with the history of the free-delivery service. They are 3½ feet in length, 2 feet wide, and 10 inches thick, and cost $48 apiece.

Copies will be presented to Senator Blair, Representative Cox of New York, Representative McAdoo of New Jersey, James R. Young, executive clerk of the Senate, and ex-Postmaster-General Dickinson.

Ingalls President Pro Tempore.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Vice-President was not present at the opening of this morning's session of the Senate and the Secretary, Mr. McCook, read a note from Mr. Morton stating that he would be absent all day.

Thereupon Mr. Sherman offered a resolution that during the absence of the Vice-President, Mr. Ingalls should be President pro tem. An amendment substituting the name of Voorhees for that of Mr. Ingalls was offered by Mr. Harris. The amendment was rejected—yeas, 27; nays, 29—and the resolution was agreed to. Mr. Ingalls thereupon entered upon the duties of presiding officer pro tem, the oath of office having been administered to him by Mr. Sherman, and it was ordered that the President of the United States be notified of Mr Ingalls' election. The Senate then, at 12:20 o'clock adjourned till Monday.

Shouldn't Have Been So Hoggish.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Gen. Harrison said to-day that he would have been pleased to appoint in his Cabinet some one from California, and at an early date he requested the people of the Pacific slope to unite upon two or three names from which he might select. But they neglected to do so until quite late, and finally when they did present some names they stated specifically that no other position in the Cabinet would be acceptable to them but the Secretary of Interior or Attorney-Generalship. These offices President Harrison had decided up. This, he says, is the reason why the Pacific slope did not have a representative in the Cabinet.

Representative Laird Is Better.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Representative Laird of Nebraska, who was very ill during the whole of the last session of Congress, has reached Washington much improved in health, although he has not entirely recovered.

No Extra Session Necessary.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Secretary Windom does not see any necessity for an extra session on account of the financial situation, but says the question will be the first one considered by the new Cabinet.

Stanley Matthews Dying.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Stanley Matthews, who has been in declining health for the last eight or nine months, has grown steadily worse lately, and since yesterday his family have given up all hope. His death may be expected at any moment.

Presentation to Mrs. Harrison.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—A very pretty scene was enacted in Mrs. Harrison's private apartments yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the presentation to her of an elegant robe by the Gen. Lyon's Woman's Relief Corps of St. Louis. The presentation was made by Mrs. Chauncey Filley, president of the woman's executive committee of the Mississippi valley sanitary fair in 1884. The robe, which is intended for evening reception use, is a cream-colored gros-grain silk, decorated on the revers and panels with relief paintings of lilacs in white and different shades of lavender. In addition to the dress there was also presented to Mrs. Harrison from the relief corps, a pair of white slippers decorated with small sprays of white lilacs, hand painted, and Mrs. Chriseine L. Brokaway, the artist, who painted the dress and slippers presented to Mrs. Harrison on her own behalf, a richly bound copy of the Bible, with a handsomely adorned cushion.

WILLIAMSON IS DEAD.

Philadelphia's Venerable Millionaire Philanthropist Expires.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 8.—Isaiah V. Williamson, the venerable millionaire philanthropist, died at 4 o'clock Thursday morning. He had been ill for some time and his demise was expected.

Mr. Williamson was perhaps the richest bachelor in the United States. He was born at Penns Manor, Bucks county, Pa., 87 years ago. He was the son of a poor farmer, and endured many early privations. After a varied commercial experience, in which he developed great business ability, he became a member of a large dry goods firm. He was very successful in business, and retired from active work many years ago with a fortune aggregating millions.

Mr. Williamson has been a charitable man all his life, and has given liberally to all worthy objects. His crowning act of philanthropy was the gift of $2,500,000 for the founding of the Williamson Free School of Mechanical Trades, which is to be built as soon as a location is decided upon. The affairs of the project are now in the hands of a board of trustees.

LATER—It is reported that Mr. Williamson had not signed his will, thus sadly interfering with this beneficent scheme.

Death of a New York Journalist.

NEW YORK, March 8.—J. P. MacGarrahan, a well known journalist of this city, dropped Thursday morning of heart disease, in a restaurant, where he had gone for breakfast. He was 43 years old, and was a well known writer.

Other deaths reported are: At Boston, Sidney Bartlett, the Nestor of the Suffolk county bar, aged 90 years; at Waterloo, Iowa, Robert Manson, one of the contractors on the pioneer railroad lines of the West, aged 73; at Evanston, Ill., J. J. Spalding, one of Evanston's best-known citizens, by being struck by an engine; at Baltimore, Md., George Hawkins Williams, aged 70, one of the leading members of the Baltimore bar; at Danville, Ill., August Leseure, an old settler, aged 73; at Dixon, Ill., Alonzo W. Mead, a highly respected citizen, aged 85; at Crosswell, Mich, ex-Senator J. W. Babcock, a leading lawyer; at Whitewater, Wis., Rev. Mr. Lillie, a retired Congregational minister, aged 94; at Osseo, Wis., George W. Stillman, an old and respected citizen of Garden Valley, of heart disease; at New Glasgow, Va., Robert A. Coghill, one of the best-known lawyers and public men in the State, aged 68 years.

HARRISON AND THE DANCE.

How the Young Fooled the President-Elect—They Played "Tucker."

Incidental to the discussion as to whether or not there is to be dancing at the inaugural ball and as to what are Gen Harrison's notions about it the following story was told recently by a society lady to a company of her friends in the parlors of the Grand Pacific Hotel in Chicago:

"Though Gen. Harrison used to disapprove of dancing," said she, "I remember Mamie Harrison, now Mrs. D. R. McKee, to have been six or seven years ago one of the most graceful dancers in Indianapolis. Russell Harrison was a good dancer, too, and both Mamie and Russell were in society a great deal. They were members of a little social club called the Loreley, which met weekly at the homes of the members, and, of course, we didn't do much else but dance. It came Minnie's turn to have us at her house. She told us, in great perplexity, as we began to arrive in the evening, that she didn't know how we were to be entertained, for her father would not allow dancing in his own house. We played charades for an hour or two and then Clarence Vojen, the most diplomatic young fellow of our party, announced a project. He would obtain Gen. Harrison's consent for us to dance. So Mr. Vojen went into the library, where the General was reading. 'General,' said he, 'we have a new game called Tucker; you have no objections to our playing it, have you?'

"'Why, no; certainly not,' replied the General. 'Amuse yourselves in any way you like. I believe I'll come in and see how it goes.'

"The 'Tucker,' you know, is the simplest kind of a hoosier dance—something like the Virginia reel, and any one can go through the steps. Mr. Vojen, of course, never expected General Harrison to come in, but we had to go right ahead. The General became interested. It wasn't ten minutes until he had a partner and was tripping back and forth and bowing just like the rest of us. We danced that wretched old Tucker for an hour, and then when the General went back to the library he didn't distinguish the strains of the waltz, as one of the girls played it upon the piano, from the simple chords of old Tucker."

UPRIGHT IN BUSINESS.

Fine Sense of Integrity Displayed by An Insurance Man.

It was once pertinently said of the character of a certain piano-maker: "He is like his pianos, square, upright, and grand."

Mr. William Ellis, for many years underwriter of an English insurance company, could also lay claim to these adjectives as not too flatteringly descriptive of his own character. In all business transactions he was governed by a delicate sense of honor, which never allowed him to entertain for a moment the temptation to "sharp practice."

At the time when a great fire destroyed the town of Memel, several vessels lying in the harbor were burned, and among them some which had been insured in Mr. Ellis' company against the usual risks at sea. The question might therefore have arisen if a vessel burned at her mooring could be said to suffer injury "at sea."

Mr. Ellis without raising the point at all, paid the total loss in every case, and, by his example, obliged other companies to do the same.

When the success of his company became firmly established, the directors offered him a yearly present of £10,000 above his salary, but this he quietly refused, unless all the employes in the office should also receive a bonus in proportion to their respective salaries. Every one beneath him in official rank was treated with uniform justice and kindness, and the only complaint made of him during his fifty years of service was that, as he took no holidays, he made others ashamed to take them.

One more incident of his integrity, and perhaps the best, serves well to show on what principles he conducted business.

A ship owner, who had for many years insured his vessels in this company, one day called at the office, and chanced to mention that, owing to his absence from town his clerk had omitted to renew the policy upon a vessel which had since been burned.

"Did you intend to offer me the renewal?" asked Mr. Ellis.

"Yes," was the reply, and without a word further the ship owner was indemnified for the total loss of the ship.

THE WORLD'S NEWS.

London—The British man-of-war Sultan has been wrecked in the Mediterranean.

Paris—The cabinet has rescinded the decree of exile against the Duc d'Aumale.

Warren, Ill.—Dr. T. W. Walton, assistant State veterinarian was thrown from his buggy and killed.

Chicago—Well grounded information is to the effect that the "Bee Line" and the "Big Four" roads have been consolidated.

Chicago—Dr. Frank W. Stebalts of No. 323 South Halsted street has died, under circumstances that point strongly to suicide.

Walkerville, Ill.—Daniel Cox, charged with the murder of Marion Neece in 1877, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Zanesville, Ohio—The Rev. Dr. Nash, who fell down stairs a few weeks ago in St. James' Episcopal church, has died of his injuries.

St. Louis, Mo.—George W. Allen, collector, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. Jealousy of his wife was the cause.

Burlington, Iowa—George H. Elick, aged about 40 years, committed suicide by taking strychnine. Insanity is said to have been the cause.

Princeton, Ind.—John Dremmon, a prominent wholesale merchant, has been missing for ten days. He is said to be financially embarrassed.

Des Moines, Iowa—D. H. Shull, a farmer of Sac county, died from drinking carbolic acid, which had been put up by a drug clerk in mistake for alcohol.

New York—Austin Corbin, president of the Reading and Long Island railroad companies, is seriously ill. He is suffering from throat trouble and pneumonia.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York city, will receive the recipe free of charge

THE BREATH of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure.

OUR LITTLE SON,

Four years old, afflicted with a painful skin disease. Six doctors tried to cure him and failed. Got worse. Completely cured by one set of Cuticura Remedies, costing $1.75.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician, who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger, in blotches and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him Cuticura Resolvent internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the Resolvent about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one-half of a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a little less than one box of Cuticura, and only one cake of Cuticura Soap.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the Cuticura Resolvent. I did so, and in a day I grew better and better, until I am as well as ever. I thank you for it very much, and would like to have it told to the public.

Choking Catarrh

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the langor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressed influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the Radical cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler with treatise and directions, and is sold by the all druggists for $1.

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west; is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles, or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney Sprague, Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail line to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory printed in colors. BENTLEY & NOWLAN WIN.

Attorney General Estabrook Decides that Their Claims Need No Further Discussion.

Action that Amounts to an Award of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars.

Mr. William Ruger returned from Madison at nine o'clock last night bringing with him news of a victory for Bentley & Nowlan. Mr. Ruger appeared before the committee on claims yesterday afternoon, and the long-contested claim was there discussed, the state being represented by Attorney General Eastabrook.

The attorney general gave it as his opinion at once that the decision of the supreme court decided the whole controversy in favor of Bentley & Nowlan.

In consequence of yesterday's meeting the committee will look the matter over with Bentley & Nowlan and decide what it actually costs to restore the fallen building to the point where it was destroyed; and will allow the contractors that amount with interest for four years. The sum is in the neighborhood of $22,000 and with interest added will be about $25,000.

BRIEFLETS.

—"Driven from Home" to-night.

—Fresh fish at Ryan's meat market today.

—Paul E. Derrick, of Chicago, is registered at the Grand.

—"Driven from Home," this evening at Lappin's Opera House.

—The Odd Fellows will join in a social dancing party at Odd Fellows hall on to-morrow evening.

—Make arrangements to attend Dr. Sperry's lecture Saturday evening. You will be highly entertained.

—Walter Helms is still in the seed business at the old stand, No. 24 South Main street, notwithstanding reports to the contrary.

—Give the G. A. R. boys a rousing benefit this evening by crowding Lappin's Opera House—"Driven from Home" is the play.

—Funeral services over the remains of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Lisle will be held to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock.

—Do not forget the W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R. benefit at Lappin's Opera House to-night. Mr. Chapman assures an artistic success.

—Dr. Sperry has an original, clear, entertaining and delightful way of putting things. He is "brim-full and running over" with good cheer.

—The members of Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., are requested to meet promptly at 6:45 this evening to accommodate the entertainment at 8 o'clock —The Woman's Exchange is to occupy the north store in the Court Street M. E. church block, on Main street, formerly occupied by the Singer Sewing Machine Co.

—People's Lodge No. 460, Independent Order of Good Templars, assemble in regular weekly meeting this evening—lodge room in the Court Street M. E. church block.

—Manager J. H. Brown's benefit will take place at Lappin's Opera House on Monday evening. Seats are now on sale at King & Skelly's book store, West Milwaukee street.

—Mr. M. R. Wolcott, of Monroe, entertained a number of Janesville people with a fine clarinet solo, by telephone, this afternoon. The music could be heard distinctly, and was very fine.

—Ever since a slip of the types resulted in the reporting of Engineer Roberts as estimating the "slack" in twenty cars as about twenty feet instead of as twelve the good-natured engineer's life has been a busy one. He is now loading his gun for proof readers.

—The Singer Sewing Machine Company have leased the store No. 217 West Milwaukee street, where they propose to permanently locate. Mr. P. S. Peterson continues in charge of the business and will be pleased to see all of his old friends at their new rooms.

—W. H. Sarpent Post No. 20, G. A. R., assemble in regular semi-monthly meeting this evening at Post hall. The meeting will be called to order at 6:45 o'clock instead of 7:30, in order to consider business in time to allow members to attend the performance at Lappin's hall.

—"New Orleans", writes a Janesville sight-seer from the scene of the Mardi-Gras, "New Orleans is about the wettest place I ever saw. Some of the streets are so full of water that people are driving scows from house to house with mules. Why don't somebody try the scheme on Lake Nicholson."

—The young people of the Fortnightly Club enjoyed a social dancing party last evening in the parlors of All Souls church. There was a good attendance, refreshments were served, and the session was one of much pleasure to all. Miss Maud Crane, 209 Center avenue, will entertain the club on Tuesday evening, March 21st.

—The Woman's Industrial Exchange will give a fagot party Tuesday evening, March 12th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nash, corner Madison and West Bluff street. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Supper will be served from 5 o'clock until 7 p. m. The entertainment at 8 o'clock will consist of music, recitations and tableaux, while the fire in the grate glows with each participant's fagot.

—The jury trying the case of the state against Mary Clifton at Lappin's Opera House to-night, can be depended on to bring in a "just verdict." Mr. E. S. Hayward the foreman, will never consent to deliver any other one. The chivalrous nature of Mr. Hayward makes it extremely probable that the fair defendent will be acquitted or if guilty, escape with the slightest punishment permitted by the law. Of course the Gazette in saying this, does not want to prejudice the minds of the twelve good and true men, who will have the case in charge.

—The Rev. Joseph Waite was called to Evansville to-day to attend the funeral of Mr. Henry Spencer. Mr. Spencer, who was far advanced in years, had made his home in Evansville until about two months ago. When his son, the Rev. W. H. Spencer, retired from the ministry, and prepared to engage in the real estate business in Waupaca, this state, the family residence was removed from Evansville to Waupaca, and it was there that Mr. Spencer died.

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barriage and their daughter, Miss Naomi Barriage, entertained a large company at progressive euchre at their home 251 North Bluff street. Besides the amusing game of euchre, instrumental music and choice refreshments added cheerfulness to the fast fleeting hours. Beautiful and appropriate prizes were awarded for the champion card players, Miss Annie Doran capturing first ladies' prize and Mrs. Hern, of La Prairie, second, while Captain Richard Griffith took first gentleman's prize, and J. C. Spencer second. The party was one of much amusement and pleasure to all present.

HEARING GRAND OPERA.

THE ACADEMY SECURES THE GREAT METROPOLITAN COMPANY FOR SIX PERFORMANCES.

German opera may not succeed in driving the Italian exotic from the field though there is no doubt but that the Wagnerian music drama has succeeded in attracting and holding the attention of the entire musical world.

The grand performances at the Metropolitan opera house in New York during the past two or three seasons have enjoyed a popularity equal to that of the great productions of the Italian companies in days gone by.

Milwaukee this season will share with New York the glory of these grand performances of Wagner operas, and Manager Litt has secured the Metropolitan company for a series of six performances at the Academy commencing April 15th, when the following works will be presented: "Rhingold," "Siefried," "Walkien," "Gotterdammerung," "Meisterunger" and "Tristan." One of these will be a matinee performance and the sale of seats will open at the Academy on the 25th inst, when orders may be sent in by mail, telephone or telegraph.

Elaborate preparations have been made for these performances and special scenery is being painted for the academy.

The entire company from the Metropolitan theatre will appear on that occasion, including the full chorus and grand orchestra. The leading singers such as Lillie Lehman, the great soprano; Alvary, the tenor, and Fucher, the bass, will be seen and heard in the roles which they have made famous in New York. Arrangements for the running of special trains from the interior during the week of the opera are in progress.

A book containing full information concerning the repertory, list of artists, discription of the operas and prices of rates, will be issued in a few days, and sent to any one making application to Manager Litt.

In Europe the Bayrenth performances of these opeas attracted musical people from all parts of the country, and with the excellent railroad facilities offered by Milwaukee, a similar movement from this city is probable.

HE PREFERS OLD ROCK.

HON. S. C. CARR TELLS OF SOME OF HIS WESTERN EXPERIENCES.

"Rock county is good enough for me," remarked S. C. Carr, as he strolled down Milwaukee street, musing over his California experience. "California is a splendid state, but the weather is almost too warm. We found it uncomfortably hot, even in winter."

"How about the land?"

"Oh, those California river valleys can't be equalled. They cost just about three times as much an acre as land on Rock Prairie does, though, and I don't think there is that difference in the cost.

"Farming is done by wholesale. In a field near where I spoke a gang of thirty plows was being sent through the ground by a steam engine that ran day and night. It had head lights and side lights and changed crews once every twelve hours. From sunrise to sunrise it would turn over eighty acres. In a factory that I visited they were building a harvester that would cut a forty foot swath. The back part of the machine was a threshing machine and the grain was to be cut, threshed, sacked and piled up three sacks at a time as fast as the harvester could be drawn over the ground. The straw, instead of being stacked, was caught on an endless belt and carried right up to the fire box of the traction engine that furnished power. One machine like that would do most of the harvesting for Rock county."

YUENGST IS ACQUITTED.

HE IS FOUND INNOCENT OF STEALING MR. SEXTON'S PIG.

Philip Yuengst's trial on the charge of stealing a pig from Mr. Charles Sexton was ended to-day.

E. Francis Moran and Warren Helm were put on the stand by the prosecution. Without delay the defense sent out and got half a dozen men to swear that neither of the witnesses were reliable.

Then Mr. Yuengst went to bat in his own defense. The state retaliated for the Helm-Moran incident by getting witnesses to swear that Yuengst himself was liable to stray from the straight and narrow path of truth. They thought that the flowery though winding boulevard of prevarication was his frequent resort.

After sizing up the charges on one side and on the other it was ordered that Yuengst be discharged. Attorney B. M. Malone appeared for the state and E. M. Hyzer for the defense.

EFFECTS OF DULL TRADE.

Hardware Store of John Griffiths Turned Over for the Benefit of Creditors.

Munger & Coburn's Grocery Taken Posession of By Gray, Kingman & Collins.

Surprise was manifested on all hands when it was announced this morning that the hardware stock of John Griffiths had been placed in the hands of creditors. The report was received with unbelief, for no one, even among Mr. Griffiths most intimate friends, had supposed that his business was in the least unsettled. It was soon learned, however, that the transfer had been made to Mr. Thomas Lappin, represented by Ed. F. Carpenter.

The stock was taken possession of on a chattel mortgage given by Mr. Griffiths to secure Mr. Lappin on a twelve thousand dollar loan. Mr. Griffiths' stables were turned over to James Van Etta to secure another loan of nine thousand. These were the only amounts of magnitude outstanding in this city. The liabilities are estimated in all at between forty and fifty thousand. What the assets are is not known, although those in position to know think they can be made to cover everything.

Mr. Griffiths' has been failing for some days, and it was this that led him to do what he could for the creditors' protection. To-day the doctors feel much encouraged. With the weight of responsibility off his mind the sufferer has shown many signs of improvement. The fear of a cancer is pronounced to have little foundation, and to-day Mr. Griffiths was confident that he was on the road to recovery.

"I shall come around now all right," he said hopefully, "and will pay everything dollar for dollar."

All who have been brought in contact with Mr. Griffiths in a business way, have seen constantly demonstrated his strict integrity and conscentious regard for the rights of his associates and will feel assured that this will be the case.

MUNGER & COBURN.

Last evening after considerable negotiation the grocery store of Munger & Coburn, South Main street, was placed in the hands of agents for Gray, Kingman & Collins of Chicago. The assignment was led to by the placing of a chattel mortgage on the stock as a precautionary measure by A. Lawson, representing Reid, Murdock & Fisher. A mortgage was made out later by the First National Bank; and Gray, Kingman & Collins agent, W. H. Cheesboro, in order to protect the interests of his own firm, settled the first two claims and took possession. It is understood that the liabilities amount to but little if anything over two thousand dollars; and as the stock is estimated at twelve hundred and the accounts at eight hundred all debts are likely to be paid in full.

GEORGE PARMLEY.

A voluntary assignment made by Geo. Parmley to Seth Fisher has been filed with Clerk McGowan of the circuit court. Mr. Parmley, who has been known for years as one of the most prominent farmers in the town of Center, has not yet filed a statement, and his assets and liabilities are therefore not definitely known. The latter are estimated at $19,000. Mr. Fisher has filed bonds as assignee for $14,000.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

SOME CHANGES IN THE CORPS OF TEACHERS MADE AT A SPECIAL MEETING.

The school commissioners held a special meeting at the clerk's office last evening at five o'clock, all the commissioners being present except Commissioner Kneff.

The meeting was called for the purpose of filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Minnie Pulker, third assistant at the high school, whose resignation will take effect at the close of the present term. After the matter had been fully discussed, the board made the following changes and addition in the corps of teachers, the vote being unanimous: Miss Julia Welch was appointed third assistant in the high school to succeed Miss Pulker, Miss Lizzie Patterson was promoted to the first grammar department of the third district and the salary increased to $45 per month; Miss Bertha Sayles was promoted to the third grammar department of the third district; Miss Lou Bates to the fourth grammar department of the third district; Miss Gertrude Zeininger to the second intermediate department of the central district, and Miss Edna Hill was elected a member of the corps and assigned to the first primary department of the central district. All the changes and appointments to take place at the commencement of the spring term.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 19 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 31 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 8 and 36 degrees above zero.

ROCK COUNTY CALEDONIANS.

ANNUAL MEETING AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Rock County Caledonian Society held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the G. A. R. hall, the meeting being well attended, and considerable business pertaining to the order was transacted.

Officers were elected for the ensuing years as follows:

President—Dr. James Mills.
Vice President—James Scott.
Secretary—C. C. McLean.
Treasurer—R. W. King.
Directors—Alexander Galbraith, Andrew Barlass, James Shearer, Andrew Scott, William Paul, Robert W. McLean and John Galletly.

Votes of thanks were tendered to E. M. Hyzer, Esq., and Rev. W. F. Brown for services rendered at the last Burns anniversary; to Mrs. Archie Galbraith for the use of her piano on that occasion, and a special vote to District Attorney B. M. Malone for assistance in procuring a charter for the society.

Two new members were elected and one honorary member.

A committee of five, consisting of Messrs. William Paul, Andrew Barlass, Robert W. McLean, R. W. King and E. A. Hyde was appointed to look up suitable ground for holding the annual picnic of the society next summer.

President James Mills, R. W. King and John Galletly were appointed a committee to lock up suitable rooms in which to hold the meetings of the society.

The matter of the selection of suitable grounds in Oak Hill cemetery to be used as a place of interment for any Scotch stranger who might die in the city was brought up, and after discussing it thoroughly, a committee of three consisting of Messrs. R. W. Scott, James Shearer and George Skinner was appointed to select a suitable location.

The Caledonian Society is now in a flourishing condition, and much credit for this is due to the officers for their ever watchful care and interest taken in the organization, and perhaps none are entitled to more credit for the excellent condition of the society at this time than Mr. Alex Galbraith, the retiring secretary, who, notwithstanding the great amount of labor connected with his office entered into the work with pride and enthusiasm, determined to place the society upon a permanent foundation. The retiring treasurer, Mr. Thomas Scott, is also entitled to much credit for his extra labor and efforts in behalf of the society's interests.

In the evening a large number of the members and invited friends assembled in the same rooms for a social reunion, and after listening to a few musical selections by Hon. Andrew Barlass, Ed. Ehrlinger, D. H. Rust, John Crichton and Messrs. Dougherty and Brown, a few hours were spent in the social dance.

LIEUT. LAVERY.

GREAT INTEREST MANIFESTED IN THE MEEINGS AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The revival going on at the Baptist church is one of the most remarkable ever held in this city. Lieut. Lavery has a peculiar way, entirely his own, of putting gospel truths, which, after once being heard, you cannot resist going to hear him again. The apt and simple illustrations, now witty and now bordering on ridicule, make him one of the most forcible revivalists we have ever listened to. His powers of illustration are wonderful, especially of battle and camp scenes, of which he passed through the four and a half year's series during the war, and which he uses frequently to clinch home some scripture truth. Mr. Lavery's coming among us was aunnnounced, he has won the friendship of all who have become acquainted with him. He believes in life. He came to Janesvelle a week ago last Friday and went quietly to work with a firm reliance in the God whom he serves for strength and grace. He speaks extempore and has a ready flow of language, and talks in a positive way of the gospel that has done so much for him; he carries conviction to those that hear him. In the two weeks he has been laboring in Janesville he has won the hearts and confidence of those that are laboring with him. The meetings have been increasing in number and interest from the commencement and last night there seemed to be an outpouring of the Holy Spirit in the meetings. Seven responded when the invitation was given to those who wanted to accept of the Savior. There has been no undue excitement attending these services and consequently those that come, come intelligently and we believe the work that is being done is effectual. It is hoped that all who can will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the meetings conducted by Mr. Lavery and bring those who are out of Christ under the influence of these meetings. Many are asking the christians to pray for their friends and themselves. May this be but the beginning of a great awakening in our midst. Services commence at half past seven sharp, and close at nine. All are invited. Seats free.

The Population of Janesville.

is about twelve thousand, and we would say at least one-half are troubled with some affection of the throat and lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. A Horse Who Can Talk!

Everybody has heard of a "horse laugh," but who has ever seen an equine gifted with the power of speech? Such an animal would be pronounced a miracle; but so would the telegraph and the telephone have been a hundred years ago. Why, even very recently a cure for consumption would have been looked upon as miraculous, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it, if taken in time. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when all other means have failed. Thousands can gratefully testify to this. All druggists.

THE SCIENCE OF FARMING.

Cultivating Turnips in Rock County—Turnips as Food for Cattle.

Some Criticisms by a Rock County Farmer on the Farmers' Institues.

To the Editor.

Below is a memorandum account of a crop of turnips for the year 1885. I will first state the kind of land, and when first broken up. Land first broken up in 1856, continually under cultivation until the season of 1884, that summer in clover and timothy; first crop mowed for hay; the second crop very weak, and was plowed under about middle of October, together with a heavy coat of barn yard manure. The land allowed to rest until the following June, then thoroughly cultivated; then again when the season arrived for sowing seed, cultivated and pulverized with a planter. Seed sown with a drill, thirty-two inches apart; in rows running north and south. Time of sowing the seed, July 15th; cultivated on the 16th, 20th, and 23d of July; and on the 23d of July thinned out the turnips, leaving them to grow from twelve to fourteen inches in the row. On the 25th of July hoed with a hand hoe away from the turnips; on the 29th cultivated again; August 6th cultivated; August 14th cultivated; August 17th and 21st cultivated for the last time. Now it will be observed that on the 15th of July I sowed the turnip seed, and that on 16th of July or next day, that I commenced to cultivate them; to many this will not seem strange. But at that season of the year vegetation is very rapid, and as weeds grow as rapidily as most cultivated crops and as I intended to raise a crop of turnips in preference to weeds, I kept cultivating to keep the weeds from growing, moreover, I think it cheaper to cultivate with a horse, and much better than hand hoeing. I raised from 1600 to 2000 bushels to the acre that year. It is true that I had not kept count of the exact number of bushels, but I measured part of a row, and estimated according to that. I have raised turnips almost every year since I settled in LaPrairie. But after attending the Farmers' Institutes and reading essays of scientific farmers—rather self styled—and well paid professors at agricultural colleges, persons whom the farmers delight to honor—and for whose salaries they cheerfully tax themselves, it would indeed be presumptuous to longer cultivate root crops. On one of these well paid professors being asked what he thought of feeding turnips to cattle, he turned around to the audience and said: "Gentlemen, the cheapest way that you can feed water to your cattle is to turn them to the water trough." And on an other occassion as one of the speakers (and I might say a regular speaker) at a farmer's institute was asked, what he thought of turnips for cattle—replied. "I have a good well of water, and a good wind mill; and I find that the cheapest way to feed water to my cattle" These indeed are significant answers, and should be leasurly pondered.

I don't want it supposed that I am opposed to the science in any form, or for any purpose whatever. But sham science I am no friend to. It is supposed by many that they only have to study chemistry, etc, and become expert farmers. What a delusion—but yet wide-spread. I believe one of the most scientific men in a Michigan college said, that it would take one hundred years to find out scientifically what land would best produce—and that it was doubtful even if it could be then told. Now it is well known that the labratory, and field practice, materially differ, and to corroborate my theory have I not all the most scientific and well or poorly paid professors corroborating my assertion. I will go farther and say, that any boy versed in permutations can tell us with the same accuracy, the time or number of years that it will take to go over all the different kinds of feeds for cattle and hogs. We have a great number of feeding stuffs, and it seems that new varieties are constantly pressing or opening up for us, such as blood, etc. In all our most progressive states we are having experimental stations established, and this most fully proves what I am trying to prove in a different way, that is, that farming cannot be learned from books. Farming is a science that must be learned practically, and like all other trades, all persons are not adapted as farmers, and without some adaptation science is thrown away. Why then not have at our experimental station a farmer that can combine the experience of others, and other generations with his own, and not keep groping in the dark until certain experiments can be tried. But the greatest drawback in this country, and I might say in all other countries, is that persons gifted with knowledge of most any kind, if not in themselves able to properly display it, for want of means it is left to rust and decay, and people of inferior ability put where abler men would achieve wonders. Thirty years ago you could not persuade an American farmer that a large horse would perform more work on a farm than a small one; to-day they all understand it. Thirty, and one hundred years ago, some people understood it to perfection, and so it is to-day; many a man understands the science of farming and its proper routine, better than will be known at the experiment station thirty years hence. LA PRAIRIE.

UNCLE JOEL'S COAT.

He Decides to Attend the Inauguration Ball and Buys a Swell Garment.

[Special Hog Point, Ind., Correspondence.]

Our busy little town is in a great state of excitement over the inauguration ball. Gen. Harrison's grandfather fought his famous battle of Tippecanoe almost within sight of Joel Gastrotter's residence. Uncle Joel is our leading merchant and reminiscence. He voted for the old General and contains more recollections than a county atlas.

"Uncle Joel" decided to attend the inaugural ball. The field in the Wabash bottom this year raised corn that had to be husked from a step ladder, and the old man determined that he would go in raiment that would create consternation in Hog Point. A pair of bed-ticking "galluses" and one of old Bill Holloway's pea jackets is the society costume of Hog Point. Uncle Joel had read to him in the papers an account of the great Hoosier's visit to Chicago to order his inauguration suit. He heard that "Sel" Haggard was going to the city and he sent for a suit to match Gen. Ben's. It arrived yesterday—a clawhammer whittled to a point and the front scissored away below the vest pocket. Aunt Eliza declared to goodness that it was a "new-fangled kind of galluses," and that "them broad ribbons was to be wore over the old man's dickey." The old man knew better than that, but he thought the coat was short in weight and measure. He "know'd" about butter being made out of lard and sand being put into the sugar, but he didn't believe he'd ever "hearn tell" of an adulterated coat. He said the rascals hadn't sent him all of his coat, and he threatened to make 'em sweat for it.

"Mebbe it's shrunk in shippin', Joel," said Aunt Eliza. "It looks drawed up in front. If it hed shrunk in them tail flippers you'd look a deal better, but I can easy run a tuck or two in 'em.

Uncle Joel 'lowed that was about all women folks knew, anyway, and refused the kindly service of his aged wife. The old man was about to send his coat back and have the front pieced out, when Tom Barnes came along and said the coat was all right. Tom had been to Chicago with a load of hogs once, and he said everybody wore that kind of a coat at the Stock Yards—it was so handy to feed in. Uncle Joel is husking corn and feeding the cattle in his new coat to get used to it so that he'll feel at home in it at the inauguration.

A Woman's Tribute.

A woman has a more excellent way of bestowing a favor than a man. One day, in 1865, Rosa Bonheur was surprised, while working in her studio, to receive a visit from the Empress Eugenie, who entered unannounced.

The Empress kissed the artist as she rose to receive her royal visitor, and, after a few minutes' conversation, departed as unceremoniously as she had entered.

The woman artist discovered that the woman sovereign had pinned upon her working blouse the cross of the Legion of Honor.

The Emperor, who had hesitated to confer the decoration on the artist because she was a woman, had left the Empress regent, during his absence from France. One of her first acts was to drive over from Fontainebleau, near the studio, and decorate Rosa Bonheur with her own hand.

Ungainly Man.

Man is an ungainly creature at the best. His head is an irregular spheroid; his eyes are not alike or of equal efficiency; his whiskers won't grow uniformly. One shoulder is higher than the other, one hand or foot larger than the other—and this on opposite sides—his hips (if he has any) are unequal in shape. The calves of his legs are not twins in anything but age, and without his tailor, hatter and bootmaker he is a very sorry-looking animal. As for women—well, this article is not written to discuss their physical crookedness. If it was it would not be half the length that it is.

A Maryland Ghost.

The town of Havre de Grace, Md., has a real live ghost. Recently it followed a city councilman, and when the councilman turned around to ask it what it wanted it drew a knife and threatened to carve him into several pieces. The councilman started home, and made the greatest run of his life. Several other persons allege that they have seen the ghost. It haunts the section around the salvation army barracks, and has caused so much excitement that the boys and young men of the town have all armed themselves with revolvers.
